Dr. Amitabh Bachchan MBBS Registration Number: 123 5678	1. Clot based 2. Clot Based 3. Calculath	 LA is an antiphospholipid antibody directed against negatively charged phospholipids that interferes with in vitro phospholipid-dependent coagulation tests. Lupus anticoagulant is associated with arterial and venous thrombosis and fetal loss. Positive results in 2 assays 12 weeks apart are essential to suspect presence of Lupus anticoagulant. This test is not useful for the detection of Anti Phospholipid Abs that do not affect coagulation tests; serum Anti Phospholipid (cardiolipon) Abs or Anti Beta Glycoprotein -1 Abs are recommended for the same. LA results are affected by: * Therapeutic plasma heparin levels. * Specific inhibitors to coagulation factors. * Coagulation factor deficiency. * Coumarin derivative.
